

WORKING WITH COMPLEX FORMS ON THE WEB

CHAPTER 10

CHAPTER OBJECTIVES

- Explain the importance of the user interface in the design of a web application
- Explain the importance of the user interface in the design of a web application

The user interface is the part of the web application that the user interacts with. It is the part of the application that the user sees and uses to interact with the system. The user interface is the part of the application that the user interacts with. It is the part of the application that the user sees and uses to interact with the system.

The user interface is the part of the web application that the user interacts with. It is the part of the application that the user sees and uses to interact with the system. The user interface is the part of the application that the user interacts with. It is the part of the application that the user sees and uses to interact with the system. The user interface is the part of the application that the user interacts with. It is the part of the application that the user sees and uses to interact with the system.

